AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

For Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only our but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues.

Perhaps no one ever assured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about thirty years, by a long continuance of marvellous cures, for a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It all makes the Cherry Pectoral a cure of Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

It is a fact, that the Cherry Pectoral has really relieved thousands of the most dangerous diseases of the lungs, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded. If it is taken in season—Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by its timely use, and otherwise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Some Singular Escapes.

A year or two ago the writer stood with others in a newspaper office window in Nassau street, where the attention of all was directed to a fat cheeeked little youngster leaning out of the fifth story window of a building opposite. It was enjoying itself in that infamous childish fashion so pleasant to see, but which only added to the horror of the observers as they looked on and saw it utterly beyond their efforts to save it. They dared not cry out for fear of startling it, and stood for some moments spell-bound with horror. Pre-tently soon a cry burst from the whole party, as the little thing tumbled over and, losing its infantile hold, turned over and over and over in its fearful fall. It descended past three stories and then struck an awning, where it bounced up two or three feet like a piece of India rubber. The stout canvass held firm, and, belling out, formed a kind of pocket, in which the child seemed to gather its scattered senses for a moment, and then, seeming to think its dignity had been invaded, set up an angry cry. A lawyer in the second story of the building crept carefully out on the iron support of the awning and seizing it by one of its legs drew it to him, and so rescued it comparatively unharmed.

About a year ago, on Thirteenth street and Avenue A, an older sister was rolling an infant in its little carriage on the roof of a five story tenement house. Unexpectedly she lost her hold of the carriage tongue, and in another instant it had rolled over the edge of the roof. In falling, the wheels remained underneath and struck the pavement first.
The carriage was broken to fragments, and even the supporters of the movable top were wrecked, but the little inmate, enveloped in its pillows and shawls, was only stunned by its fall, and in a few days was as well as ever.

Five or six days ago a young woman domestically employed at Mrs. Demore's, Westway and Thirteenth street, ascended to the roof to remove a piece of carpet that had been placed over a portion of the skylight.
Trusting too much to the strength of the framework in which the panes of glass were set, she broke through them and was precipitated headlong down through the skylight shaft, past two stories and struck on the dining-room floor, a distance of 42 feet. In what position she was when she struck the floor, she of course does not know. Her friends hearing the sound of her fall, ran to the dining room, and as the truth flashed on their minds they were almost paralysed with alarm. They found her lying on her back, unconscious, and at once removed her to a sofa, with no expectations that their exertions to restore her to life would prove successful.
She soon recovered her senses, however, and is now recovering. She thinks she must have turned once or twice in her descent, but her memory of what occurred after breaking through the skylight is very much confused.
Notwithstanding the extreme height from which she fell not a bone was broken nor a joint dislocated.

Excellent Pickle For Beef and Hams.
To eight gallons of water put twelve pounds best coarse salt, three to four pounds of sugar, or its equivalent in molasses, and four ounces of saltpetre. Let the water in which the ingredients are mixed be brought to a boil, skimming off all impurities which may arise.
When cold it may be poured over the meat which, before packing in the barrel, should have been lightly rubbed with salt, and allowed to drain for two or three days in a cool place, where it will not freeze. This will extract a portion of the blood, and facilitate curing of the meat.

The reason for packing the meat closely in the barrel is that it takes less time to fill the interstices. However close it is packed, the brine will penetrate every part. A follower and heavy weight should be placed over the meat before the brine is poured over. In about one week the beef will be fit for use, will require no freshening, and will remain good until warm weather in Summer.

If the beef is to be kept longer, it must be taken out, the barrel scalded and repacked, the brine strengthened with a couple of pounds of salt, scalded, skimmed, and when cool, again poured over the meat, which should then be placed in the coolest part of the cellar.
It is, however, difficult to keep pickled meat in perfect condition through the summer, unless it be kept very cool.

The hams may be let in the brine until they are wanted for smoking, when they should be taken from the brine and allowed to dry in the air two or three days, when they subjected to a cool smoke until properly cured. Three weeks is the proper time, however, to allow them to remain in the brine. In this time they will be uniformly pickled.

When dry salting is preferred, the hams should be rubbed with salt, as before directed, and after the blood is drained from them, mix salt-petre and sugar in the proportion of an ounce of saltpetre to a pound of sugar; rub this thoroughly over the fleshy portions of the meat and the knuckle at the end; let the meat lie three days, and then rub thoroughly three times with salt as hot as the hand can bear, at intervals of three days, and then finally with black pepper. It is then ready for hanging in the smoke-house.—Western Rural.

A Number of Pounds to a Bushel.
The Legislature of Ohio has amended the statute prescribing the standard weights and measures of farm produce. Whenever the following articles are hereafter sold, and no special arrangement as to the measure is made by the contracting parties, the bushel shall consist of the following weights: Wheat 60 pounds; rye, 56; corn in the ear, 70; until the 1st of January of each year next after it is raised, and from and after the 1st of January, 70; oats, 52; clover-seed, 60; timothy-seed, 45; hemp, seed, 44; buck-wheat, 50; beans, 60; hominy, 60; Irish potatoes, 55; sweet potatoes, 50; dried peaches, 33; dried apples, 22; flax-seed, 50; barley, 48; malt, 34; Hungarian grass-seed, 50; millet seed, 50.

Lee Farmers' Club.
It was our pleasure last week to attend one of the meetings of the Farmers' Club, in Lee, Mass. This club is not a Grange, but simply an association of the farmers of Lee and vicinity, whose sole object is the dissemination of such knowledge as shall best advance the agricultural interests of its members. The association embraces about twenty-five intelligent, wide-awake, go-ahead farmers, twenty of whom were present. After a few preliminaries the subject for the evening's discussion was taken up and handled with earnestness and ability. The subject was "Agricultural Fairs; how can they be improved?" Among the suggestions made were those to omit the address, to dispense with the Band, to omit premiums on grade stock, to make experts chairmen on all committees for awarding premiums, and to give a greater number of premiums, &c. Each point was discussed with earnestness and ability, the President calling on each for their views and suggestions.

From the tenor of remarks and suggestions made, we conclude that the good people of Berkshire county have about the same difficulties and suffer from many of the same causes in their efforts to forward the agricul-

A Good Fertilizer.
Farmers generally have to pay a high price for an article which, with a little skill, they could make themselves during the winter months or on rainy days when they have little else to do. We give a recipe for a cheap, good fertilizer, which has been used successfully by farmers in Pennsylvania and Ohio.
One recommends it especially for potatoes and wheat, and ends by saying that he has used it with success on corn and other products. It is as follows: Take 1,000 lbs. of good mold, sieve and screen it to get the gravel out and make it as fine as possible, then spread on a floor or some suitable place; add 100 lbs. sulphate of ammonia, 100 lbs. common salt, then mix with a rake. When thoroughly mixed, add 25 lbs. pearlash and 25 lbs. sulphate of soda, mix well, then add 400 lbs. ground bone, 25 lbs. best Peruvian guano, and 150 lbs. ground plaster. Mix the whole thoroughly, throw on a pile for forty-eight hours, and it is fit for use. If it is to be used for potatoes in districts where potato bugs are numerous, 5 gallons sulphuric acid may be sprinkled over the mass. Care must be taken not to use the acid in a confined place, as the fumes are bad for the health. If it is spilled on the floor, do not throw water on it, as it generates great heat when in contact with water. Sulphuric acid sprinkled on the ground will kill bugs of any kind, and its fumes are especially fatal to the potato bug.

"It's an ill wind that blows nowhere."

Mrs. Partington sagely observes, and the present financial breeze brings some compensation in the way of reduced prices for the benefit of slender purses, and moderate bank accounts.
We propose to follow the market, giving our cus-

It is not likely that prices of standard and desirscarcity has forced sacrifices in goods now

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues.

Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long and unbroken series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtue, never equalled by any other medicine.

It still remains the most effective of all cough remedies, and is given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded, if the remedy is taken in season.

Every family should have it in their closet for the relief and prompt relief of its troubles.

It is a safe and healthy remedy, and even life is saved by its timely protection. The patient should not neglect it, but use it as soon as it is needed.

It is kept by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

VOL. 3--NO. 68.

CITY OF KINGSTON, (RONDOUT,) THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1874.

WHOLE NO. 687.

Some Singular Escapes.

A year or two ago the writer stood with others in a newspaper office window in Nassau street, where the attention of all was directed to a fat cheeked little youngster leaning out of the fifth story window of a building opposite. It was enjoying itself in that hilarious childish fashion so pleasant to see, but which only added to the horror of the observers as they looked up and saw it utterly beyond their efforts to save it. They dared not cry out for fear of startling it, and stood for some moments spell-bound with horror. Pretty soon a cry burst from the whole party, as the little thing toppled over and, losing its infantile hold, turned over and over and over in its fearful fall. It descended past three stories and then struck an awning, where it bounded up two or three feet like a piece of India rubber. The stout canvass held firm, and, bellying out, formed a kind of pocket, in which the child seemed to gather its scattered senses for a moment, and then, seeming to think its dignity had been invaded, set up an angry cry. A lawyer in the next story of the building, who had been looking out on the iron support of the awning and seeing it by one of its legs drew it to him, and so rescued it comparatively unharmed.

About a year ago, on Thirteenth street and Avenue A, an older sister was rolling an infant in its little carriage on the roof of a five story tenement house. Unexpectedly the iron bolt of the carriage tongue, and in another instant it had rolled over the edge of the roof. In falling, the wheels remained underneath and struck the pavement first. The carriage was broken to fragments, and even the iron supporters of the movable top were bent, but the little inmate, enveloped in its pillows and shawl, was only stunned by its fall, and in a few days was as well as ever.

Five or six days ago a young woman domestic employed at Mrs. Demorest's Broadway and Thirteenth street, ascended to the roof to remove a piece of carpet that had been placed over a portion of the skylight. Trusting too much to the strength of the framework in which the pane of glass were set, she broke through them and was precipitated headlong down through the skylight shaft, past two stories and struck on the dining-room floor, a distance of 42 feet. In what position she was when she struck the floor, she of course does not know. Her friends hearing the sound of her fall, ran to the dining room, and as the truth flashed on their minds they were almost palsied with alarm. They found her lying on her back, unconscious, and at once removed her to a sofa, with no expectations that their exertions to restore her to life would prove successful. She soon recovered her senses, however, and is now recovering. She thinks she may have turned once or twice in her descent, but her memory of what occurred after breaking through the skylight is very much confused. Notwithstanding the extreme height from which she fell not a bone was broken nor a joint dislocated.

Excellent Pickle For Beef and Hams. To eight gallons of water put twelve pounds best coarse salt, three to four pounds of sugar, one equivalent in molasses, and four ounces of saltpetre. Let the water in which the ingredients are mixed be brought to a boil, skimming off all impurities which may arise. When cold it may be poured over the meat which, before pickling, the barrel, should have been lightly rubbed with salt, and allowed to drain for two or three days in a cool place, where it will not freeze. This will extract a portion of the blood, and facilitate curing of the meat.

The reason for packing the meat closely in the barrel is that it takes less brine to fill the cavities. However close it is packed, the brine will penetrate every part. A follower and heavy weight should be placed over the meat before the brine is poured over. In about one week the beef will be fit for use, will require no freshening, and will remain good until warm weather in Summer.

If the beef is to be kept longer, it must be taken out, the barrel sealed and repacked, the brine strengthened with a couple of pounds of salt, scalded, skimmed, and, when cool, again poured over the meat, which should then be placed in the coolest part of the cellar. It is, however, difficult to keep pickled meat in perfect condition through the summer, unless it be very cool.

The hams may be left in the brine until they are wanted for smoking, when they should be taken from the brine and allowed to drain in the air two or three days, when they subjected to a cool smoke until properly cured. Three weeks is the proper time, however, to allow them to remain in the brine. In this time they will be uniformly pickled.

When dry salting is preferred, the hams should be rubbed with salt, as before directed, and after the blood is drained from them, mix salt-petre and sugar in the proportion of an ounce of saltpetre to a pound of sugar; rub this thoroughly over the fleshy portions of the meat and the knuckle at the end; let the meat lie three days, and then rub thoroughly three times with salt as hot as the hand can bear, at intervals of three days, and then finally with black pepper. It is then ready for hanging in the smoke-house.—Western Rural.

Number of Pounds to a Bushel.

The Legislature of Ohio has amended the statute prescribing the standard weights and measures of farm produce. Whenever the following articles are hereafter sold, no special arrangement as to the measure is made by the contracting parties, the bushel shall consist of the following weights: Wheat 60 pounds; rye, 56; corn in the ear, 70, until the 1st of January each year next after it is raised, and from and after that date 68 pounds; oats, 32; clover-seed, 60; timothy-seed, 45; hemp-seed, 44; buck-wheat, 50; beans, 60; hominy, 60; Irish potatoes, 58; sweet potatoes, 50; dried peaches, 33; dried apples, 22; flax-seed, 56; barley, 48; malt, 34; Hungarian grass-seed, 50; millet seed, 50.

Lee Farmers' Club.

It was our pleasure last week to attend one of the meetings of the Farmers' Club, in Lee, Mass. This club is not a Grange, but simply an association of the farmers of Lee and vicinity, whose sole object is the dissemination of such knowledge as shall best advance the agricultural interests of its members. The association embraces about twenty-five intelligent, wide-awake, go-ahead farmers, twenty of whom were present. After a few preliminaries the subject for the evening's discussion was taken up and handled with earnestness and ability. The subject was "Agricultural Fairs; how can they be improved?" Among the suggestions made were those to omit the address, to dispense with the Band, to omit premiums on grade stock, to make experts chairmen on all committees for awarding premiums, &c. Each point was discussed with earnestness and ability, the President calling on each for their views and suggestions. From the tenor of remarks and suggestions made, we conclude that the good people of Berkshire county have about the same difficulties and suffer from many of the same causes in their efforts to forward the agricultural interests of the neighborhood as do we in Ulster county. There seems to be a class of persons here, who are determined by fair means or foul, to have the premium, and they work themselves out to various important committees; they are careful to secure liberal premiums on such products as they can offer. Like Christopher, famous in U. S. history, they bring forward the old goose for his eighteenth premium. We were exceedingly gratified in the manner with which the Lee Club grappled with these evils which threaten the integrity and object, if not the perpetuity of our agricultural and horticultural societies.

A Good Fertilizer.

Farmers generally have to pay a high price for an article which, with a little skill, they could make themselves during the winter months or on rainy days, when they have little else to do. We give a recipe for a cheap, good fertilizer, which has been used successfully by farmers in Pennsylvania and Ohio. One recommends it especially for potatoes and wheat, and also for the saying that he has used it with success on corn and other products. It is as follows: Take 1,000 lbs. of good mold, sieve and screen it to get the gravel out and make it as fine as possible, then spread on a floor or some suitable place; add 100 lbs. sulphate of ammonia, 100 lbs. common salt, then mix with a rake. When thoroughly mixed, add 25 lbs. potash and 25 lbs. sulphate of soda, mix well, then add 400 lbs. ground bone, 25 lbs. best Peruvian guano, and 150 lbs. ground plaster. Mix the whole thoroughly, throw on a pile for forty-eight hours, and it is fit for use. If it is to be used for potatoes in districts where potato bugs are numerous, 5 gallons sulphuric acid may be sprinkled over the mass. Care must be taken not to use the acid in a confined place, as the fumes are bad for the health. If it is spilled on the floor, do not throw water on it, as it generates great heat when in contact with water. Sulphuric acid sprinkled on the ground will kill bugs of any kind, and its fumes are especially fatal to the potato bug.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

To-night—Mrs. Livermore at Music Hall at 8.

CITY NOTES.

The weather yesterday made the hearts of the street car drivers and within them.

Dempsey, the pilot of the ferry-boat Lark, was arrested at the dignity of an assistant—and "he smashes malodorous nasty."

The universal question yesterday was, "did you ever see such weather in January before?" And the answer was "nixy."

D. C. Reid, the American Express Co.'s agent, is a merciful man, for in wet weather he clothes his horses with a water-proof blanket "as with a garment."

A former resident of London enthusiastically remarked to a Freeman chap on Wednesday morning, "This is weather as is weather—none of your bloody blue sky now."

Rondout people have reduced surprise parties to a fine point. The get-together sends out beautifully printed invitations, with the request to bring some toothsome article to contribute to the general good.

The Society of St. Vincent De Paul, connected with St. Mary's Conference, has made 800 visits to the poor, and relieved fifty-four families, at an expenditure of $592.37, during the year. The Society's officers are: President, James Griggs; Vice-President, Stephen Connell; Secretary, James Griggs.

The notice given at Music Hall Tuesday night for the benefit of St. Joseph's church was very successful. The hall was crowded with people, and the dances partaken of with a gusto only known to these lovers of the Emerald Isle. It was a very orderly entertainment, and over a thousand tickets were sold.

One of the up-to-date lawyers has a drawer in his table on which are the words, in large letters, "Private." The other day a middle-aged chap came in and going up to the drawer gave a yank at the handle and looked in. Nothing met his eye but half a dozen old nails, whereupon he turned to the lawyer, with a perplexed air he said: "Why, there's nothing in here. What's your notion to mark it private?"

As to the curiosity of some of our foot, as to the not extremely polite though very proper reply.

Howard Cockburn has the most remarkable suite of rooms we have ever had occasion to visit. The only way a man can get into them is by using a pair of scaling-ladders so as to climb over the venerable masses of a little of everything that has accumulated on the floor. There are beds in plenty, by no means every one of them, and on top of these, cases of surveying instruments, high-top boots, cow-bells, easy chairs and implements of nearly all professions. But above all this confusion, and mingling of things, could be seen the well-known can of tobacco with pipes scattered near. It was a sort of mariner's guide, and when one eyes upon it it seemed like a ray of sunshine piercing a Newfoundland fog, or a meeting-house looming up in a thimble storm.

The New Walkill Valley Railway Train.

The time of departure of the new express train on the Walkill Valley Railway has been changed to 7:15 A. M. instead of 7:30, as heretofore announced.

Lecture Postponed.

Owing to the really dreary weather on Wednesday the lecture of Rev. Wm. H. Evans was postponed to Monday evening, Jan. 12th.

A Newburgh Lawyer Caught.

Charles Griggs, of Saville, Orange Co., son of Ferdinand Griggs, has "stuck" a Newburgh lawyer, whose name is not given, to the tune of $125 by means of a forged check, bearing the name of Griggs, himself. Daniel Leary and Hezekiah Ferguson, his father-in-law, as insiders. The fraud was well managed by Griggs, who is not a new hand at the business. He has fled.

Motion Days in the Third Judicial District.

By arrangement between the Supreme Court Judges of this (the Third) Judicial district the days for hearing contested motions and argument of demurrers in causes arising in the district, have been fixed as follows: First Tuesday in each month, Judge Ingalls, at chambers in Troy; second Tuesday, Judge Learned, at chambers in Albany; third Tuesday, Judge Westbrook, at chambers in Kingston, and Judge Miller at Hudson. The fourth Tuesday in each month is the day on which is held the monthly special term of the Supreme Court at the Albany Hotel. About that time the bar in the Fourth district have been in the habit of crowding into the Third with an endless number of motions, and this arrangement in our district is not made for their benefit. Judge Boakes of Saratoga is now a member of the General Term, and Judge Potter of Whitehall alone in that court.

A Kingstonian Sold.

A Kingston boy who did not go home for his New Year's started out with his room mate to make some calls. After making a few they really began to think their friends would suffer if they did not have their picture as a "token of remembrance of January 1st, 1874." While waiting their turn the Kingstonian began to converse with a very pretty, stylish young lady, with whom he exchanged cards and pictures, and when he saw the photograph gallery, and promised to call on her that evening at her sister's in 18th street. He called, rang the bell of the little side door, and the door opened. The waiter smiled blandly, and said "Won't you please walk down the steps and ring the bell of the little side door?" He was so bewildered that he did so, when the dear Maggie herself opened the door, grasped him by the hand and exclaimed "Why, Mr. S., I am so glad to see you!" Then he recovered himself, broke from her kind grasp and rushed out of the area in time to meet a party of friends who were just leaving the house by the front door. The poor fellow had not been seen since, and we hear he is confined to his bed with a severe bilious attack.

A Man Killed while Felling a Tree.

By a communication from Snyder Hough we are enabled to give the following particulars of the death of Mr. William Hall, who was killed while felling a tree in that region. He was cutting timber on the mountain when they felled a tree against another one. A limb was broken from the falling tree, and both men ran to escape being struck by the limb in its descent. The broken limb hit Mr. Hall on the head, knocking him down, and the limb falling on him fractured his arm and his skull; the former in three places. The injured man expired in a few hours after the accident. Deceased was about forty years of age and leaves a wife with six small children. The person who was in company with deceased removed the limb from the mountain and then went half a mile for assistance in removing him. The injured man was carried two miles to reach the house in which he subsequently died.

Personal.

From the Evening News of December 26th, a Baltimore newspaper, we clip the following notice of the marriage in that city of Miss Lizzie Safford, who was the leading lady of Turkey's Star Company in this city last spring, and here again a few weeks since with the Buffalo Bill troupe. "A wedding of more than ordinary interest took place in the parlor of the Gibbons Hotel on Saturday evening last. A marriage license having been procured, and the Rev. Dr. Alma duly notified, that gentleman at 6 o'clock united in solemn wedlock Mr. A. M. Gillespie and Miss Lizzie Safford. The parlor, in its Christmas adornments and lighted tapers, presented a brilliant appearance. There were present at the ceremony Col. Gibbons and lady, several friends of the bride and groom, and a number of the guests of the hotel. The happy couple were the recipients of many congratulations, and the occasion was made further interesting by the splendid display of the bride's trousseau. The bride is one of the extensive far establishment of J. Gillespie & Co., Toronto, Canada. The bride is an accomplished actress, at present with the Buffalo Bill troupe. Her engagement, which closes in two weeks, concludes her theatrical life, when she will retire from the stage, and with her husband proceed to his home in Canada."

A Sharp Legal Trick.

The Troy Whig of Saturday morning says: It will be remembered that the creditors of H. B. Ingalls & Son forced them into bankruptcy recently, and their liabilities were $94,000, and their assets $38,000. After the firm had suspended payment, and before they were adjudged bankrupts, Messrs. Sweet, Quinby & Perry, and Bussey & McLeod, who had notes of the firm which had not fallen due, sold some of them about $20,000 worth to parties who owed the firm of H. B. Ingalls & Son. One note of $1,000 they saved. A recent decision of the Supreme court holds that the notes of the firm which have failed, but have not been declared bankrupt, are worth one hundred cents on the dollar when sold to persons who owe the firm who failed. This law applies particularly to the case of Ingalls & Son—Messrs. S., Q. & P. and B. & McL. lose nothing by the failure, and the notes held by the persons who owe the firm are also good. The assets of the firm become about $18,000 and the liabilities $74,000, as the men who purchased the notes will, of course, pay the notes in as payment for their debts, or in case the notes of any one man is larger than the amount he owes he will deduct it and claim the balance. This legal trap was not generally known, and was a surprise to many persons interested in the case.

Election of Officers.

At a regular meeting of Excelsior Hose Company No. 4, the following officers were elected: President, David Fisher; Directors, John Keller, Herman Ingraham, James D. McIntyre, P. Keefe and Charles Swart; Foreman, B. J. Hornbeck; First Assistant, Dewitt Shaker; Second Assistant, Gilbert Adams; Secretary, Charles McGraw; Treasurer, David Fisher; Representatives, F. Keefe.

At a regular meeting of Kingston Hose Company No. 2, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, C. S. Beffert; Foreman, S. W. Doyle; First Assistant, T. Houghtaling; Second Assistant, W. Miller; Recording Secretary, Thorpe Rifenbaur; Financial Secretary and Treasurer, W. Dolson; Representative, Peter Measter.

The following have been elected officers of the Excelsior Hose Co., Foreman, F. X. Weinert; Assistant, William Schultz; 2d Assistant, Fred Arnold; Secretary, E. N. Parish; Treasurer, S. G. Canfield; Steward, J. H. Housen; Representatives, F. X. Weinert, J. Legg and S. G. Canfield; Delegates, William Schultz, Fred Arnold and C. Davis.

A Troubled Lager Beer.

A certain lager beer man, a new comer uptown, seems to have a hard time of it. Almost the first thing he did when he came in the place was to accidentally shoot himself. A few days afterwards he had a quart bottle broken over his head by an irrepressible customer, and then he was heard to make the remark, "Iy tan I post most discouraging mit dis case." We don't wonder that he was, but now he is in a peck of trouble. Last Saturday night some one came in the saloon and reported that another Dutchman, who runs a saloon on Main street, was dead. Our hero swallowed this barefaced lie at a gulp, and with solemn face told everyone he saw, of what he had heard. The Main street saloon was not dead, and Tuesday morning he filled out a blank summons in justice's court, claiming $200 damages, signed some fictitious name to it and had it served on the man of trouble. Though this summons is made returnable January 32d, we doubt very much whether light has yet dawned on the mind of the defendant, and we are disposed to be now nearer to being discouraged than ever before.

A Rumless Spree.

Some of the young bloods in upper Kingston became much excited by an over indulgence in making a great deal of money, without ceasing to make a great deal of noise, and attempted to kidnap another youth, no doubt for the purpose of showing him the benefits of hydrophobia also. However, for some reason the young spirit objected, and stuck fast in the doorway, and though the cold water party used every effort to dislodge him, only succeeded in making a great deal of noise, without ceasing to make a great deal of noise, and attempted to kidnap another youth, no doubt for the purpose of showing him the benefits of hydrophobia also.
